To: Our Customers, Business Associates and Friends

We would like to inform you of a new change to XL Screw Corporation effective November 4, 2005. Bob Sachs, President and new CEO of XL Screw Corporation, has completed a transaction with the Sackheim family resulting in Bob becoming the sole owner of XL Screw Corporation. Bob has been a stockholder since 1979 and has been instrumental in the growth and management of the company since 1972. Ron Sackheim will remain with the company.

We are very excited to make this announcement because we believe that it reconfirms to our customers, employees, business associates and suppliers that XL Screw Corporation is committed to our goals of excellence, growth and continued prosperity for many years into the future. The ownership change will not affect our relationships and the way we do business in any way. It will be business as usual. We have implemented many new and exciting changes during the past few years, including designing a new state of the art warehouse and headquarters in Lincolnshire, Illinois and adding over 3000 new stocking items since April 2004, into our already extensive product line which now totals over 8,000 items. We will continue to add more items to our product line in the future. Also, for your information, we are now in the process of building a new larger state of the art warehouse in Austell, Georgia. Completion is scheduled for June 2006.

We would like to thank all of our valued customers and business associates for your support and we look forward to your continued support. You have contributed to our success in the past and we look forward to expanding our business together in the future.

As we continue our journey together, we should remember why we have been successful in our businesses and as individuals. It is simple, but we should always remember what brought us to where we are today.

“The difference between the ordinary and the extraordinary is that little extra.
This is our Commitment to Excellence.”

We look forward to a long and prosperous future together.

Robert H. Sachs
President and CEO
